Summer Rolling Right Along

"No One Currently Under Indictment: Congrats, Family!"

(Faribault Daily News) We're Clean! As many of you know from our own individual legal episodes, some family members have been under a federal or international indictment for decades. This run of legal experiences began with Jack's appearance in front of the Guam Supreme Court in 1964 on some "trumped-up" treason charge through last month's decision at The Hague that exonerated Lorrie Beyl for Vizsla smuggling (see Lorrie's loyal hound, Alice, standing in front of the world court below). However, once the World Court found Lorrie innocent (numerous eye witnesses were found "unwilling" to testify), the family was for the first time, in almost forty years, free of legal challenges.

"It has been a good week," said Aunt Lorraine, "I can use all this returning bail money to go out to Vegas for a few weeks." The rest of the family was equally happy with the outcomes. "Sometimes," said Andy McGrory, "When I start watching 'America's Most Wanted' I think I am watching one of the family home movies."

So many police organizations sent flowers that Kay's Floral added a part-timer to make the deliveries. "Those guys from Interpol were so nice," said Kay, "They did the currency conversion for me."

(Little) Billy Miller Wants A Change:

Tired of being constantly referred to as (Little) Billy Miller, LBM is researching a potential name change. "I am almost forty years old," fumed (Little) Billy. "I think it is time for me (and Jeff) to grow up." Therefore, he has submitted the following names for subscribers to cast their vote:

Rank	New Names to Consider:
1	(Little) Uday Miller
2	The Artist Formally Known as (Little) Billy Miller
