Cassie (and Mark) Pops Out Griffin Alexander Vogt Inherits Freakishly Long Monkey Toes From Lori

"Well, you don't see that every day," said obstetrician Gerald Vernon as he delivered young Griffin Vogt, new little brother of big sister Avery Vogt in early December. "While the kid has one helluva head of hair, he also has the toes of an orangutan."

"Long monkey toes have long been a trait of the McMichael family," said MNL Historian Kevin Thar. "This kid comes by those flippers honestly: just look at Lori's two feet. They look like ten snakes ... each one eating a Frito™ chip at the same time."

November Hat Day Kicked Off at Wimpy's John's Refusal to Wear Pants Salutes Janer

Faribault's November Hat Day was marred by John McGrory and his decision to wear the traditional Jane Sears uniform of loose fitting basketball shorts instead of Hat Day-approved long pants. "I have it on good authority from my Uncle that my grandmother was wearing basketball shorts long into January."

Other Hat Day attendees were somewhat shocked with his look including Hat Captain Joanie Boysen. "I was surprised to see him attempt it in late November. Dean Lohrmann once tried it in late 1998 and was forcibly removed from Wimpy's and Tom Truax didn't make it out of the parking lot in October 2003."

Annie and Generic Business Model Reproduce To Create Super Marketing Baby

Ann (Last Name Redacted) and her fictional business model boyfriend have created a super marketing baby, named Mikey Gatorade™ Wheaties™-Dyste. "It is all about the brand," said the youthful graduate business student, "and I am announcing that his confirmation name is currently on EBay awaiting bids."

The marketing guru has decided to create an industry of renting her baby's name out for short-term campaigns. "Maybe I will slow down when Gatey hits grade school but until then, send me a check when this first contract runs out, and I will re-name him Vagisil™ McPhee so fast it will make your head spin."
