AARP Announces Joanie Boysen As The "New Cover Girl"

(New York) The editors of AARP Magazine were giddy as rapidly-aging school girls when the long-overdue announcement finally hit the street. After waiting for a decade to finally meet the minimum-age requirement, Joanie Miller Boysen was finally named the new AARP cover girl, replacing the recently deceased Jeanne Kirkpatrick. "I am extremely proud of my new role," said the Rice County ingénue as she coyly addressed the press. "But I need a chair," continued the newest AARP eye candy. "I have to sit down before I pass out and fall on my walker."

The reporters continued to surge towards her as her beauty seemed to draw in even the most cynical reporters. "I tell you one thing," said former Albert Lea Tribune beat writer Mike (O.B.) O'Brien, "she sure looks better than Ambassador Kirkpatrick and as a big fan of gals from Bethlehem Academy, I couldn't be more pleased with the choice." To add to the circus-like atmosphere, Joanie's husband Mike was trying to steer Joanie behind the velvet rope line while turning down his own requests for interviews. "I now know what Brad Pitt goes through on a daily basis."

Rice County Notes and Whispers:

- Nate Weirick has recently been notified of acceptance to St. Cloud State University. When told of the existence of the St. Cloud Women's Prison, the soon-to-be graduating high school senior slyly remarked, "Sweet."
- Mike Lohrmann decided finally to get internet access. "It appears not to be a flash in the pan trend," mused the large-headed giggler.
- Gary Gilbertson wishes not to be quoted in MNL in March. "I would rather be left alone with my Civil War miniatures and my Colt 45 malt liquor collection."
- Mark Fielding is considering renouncing his new role on the Reader's Council. "All I seem to be getting are screenplays from prisoners."
- Joan Rodde proposed a new name for Steele County. "It should be called 'Carver County.'" When told that 'Carver County' already exists, she said, "Those SOB's are driving me crazy."
- Cate DeLaRosa barely missed another award for perfect attendance. "In January, I went into work for two whole days....no one said there were twenty working days in January."
