

Mom's Newsletter

Volume 30, Number 5

"All Things Seem Possible in July"

July 2017

Secret Time Machine Actually Works:

Dean is Named Kiwanis Member of the Year, 2037

(Secret Family Laboratory) An exhausted but anonymous family has reported that their Time Machine project has had a successful pilot test. A team of two cousins, traveled twenty years into the future to witness Dean Lohrmann below (left) pick up the Rice Country Kiwanis of the Year award. "We took a picture, said time traveler (Andy Mueller), "and explained to Dean that we were from the past which he found fascinating and asked what we thought of Jill winning the Miss World competition but then remembered that she doesn't win it until 2019."

A nice addition to the same trip was seeing that David Noll (right) was the outgoing 2036 Kiwanis of the Year winner and was happy to say hello to everyone from the past. "I have been a bit down in the dumps since Michele left me for that Brad Pitt fellow in 2021 but the Kiwanis club has kept me from getting into any real trouble. And I get to wear my button on my tie."

When pressed for more details, the cousins seemed torn between sharing juicy rumors and causing the space-time continuum to implode. "We are not supposed to share much of the journey until our benevolent overlord, Joanie, gives us the approval," said Andy. "But you will NOT believe who becomes Pope. "We will not tell you about the whole rigmarole but make sure you make every effort to cozy up to Steve Johnson." Calls to Zumbrota Ford were unsuccessful as he was "out of the office for the rest of the summer." While questions remain about a married Pope, the boys were adamant about this news nugget.

The boys brought back a few futurist trinkets including a pair of rocket pants, a Curt Breeding first edition of his wildly successful best seller, "Marriage Secrets for Longevity and Total Happiness" and a bunch of Martian porn.

Billy & Amy Reprise Winning Roles

"Doctors Doolittle" Wows Audiences

(Great White Way) Knee-deep in freshly-thrown roses and surrounded by their personal menagerie, Billy and Amy used to meet throngs of theater media demanding the most recent news of their upcoming return to Broadway.

"We have been workshopping the "Doctors Dolittle" show all over southern Minnesota." said Amy, "but we are contractually to open in New York in October just in time for the holiday rush."

Billy nodded as he drove by with several pallets of animal feed. "We are going through goat chow like no one's business; I hope we can get it in mid-town Manhattan."

The constant arrival of new animals to the farm was the genesis of the thought of reprising their former Broadway hit. "Amy kept bringing back animals," said Billy, "A goat, the sloth, the kitten, a tapir, two cows, a steer, a camel, alligator and literally a barrel of monkeys." The camel was immediately cast as the pushmepullu and after a few days of opening up their show trunks, the couple decided to put the show on the road. "I hope I don't confuse the monkeys and the relatives, but it has happened before."

Winona Mortal Sins Drop Overnight

Venial Sins Holding Steady; Remains Risk

(Winona) The Mortal Sins Index (MSI) has just reported a "significant" drop of mortal sins in Winona. "This is as bad as the time in the fall of 1974 when Dapper single-handedly (Ed's Note: Pun intended) caused the Rice County MSI to drop over 90% when he headed off to the University," said James "Snapper" Batchelder. Many theories about the Winona MSI drop are "being analyzed," said Batchelder, "but whatever it is (Or was), we are talking something which borders on bizarre circumstances or end of days...but it remains is SUPER freaky."

