MNL News Roundup

Dixie Drager wants all the guys to stop calling for "the time being." The red-haired trendsetter said, "While flattered, and contrary to rumors from the Sheriff's department, my boyfriend's parole hearing is 'back on track' and 'appears to be heading for a swift resolution' in late 2013 or 2014."

Pope Benedict XVI is red-faced about the recent confirmation of Andrew Jeffrey Knute McGrory. "I was texting Andy last month and double-dared him to go for a wacky confirm name. Now, I owe the kid 500 Euros and the Popemobile for the 2010 prom."

The Briggs Bail Bonds Company is closing down its Iowa City branch and planning to open a new location in Northfield. "It was odd," said John Briggs, "business in Iowa City just stopped mid-May, but our research shows that Northfield is going to be a gold mine for the next four years."

Barry Thompson changed his name to Billy Dee Thompson-Williams. "I changed for two reasons," said the ageless Skipper legend. "One, the wife has been doing the third name thing for years. And two, I am constantly being asked for Billy Dee Williams' autograph. At least now, I can sign them with a clean, cool conscience."

Andy Lands Summer Job with Trump "I Highly Doubt If I Will Change™"

(Manhattan) "It's great to see you, really great" said Andy Lohrmann during his interview with the MNL New York Editor. The young executive was busy in his summer intern role with Donald Trump but took time to sit down for an interview with the paper.

"I miss the less hectic pace of the upper Midwest and most of my relatives like Uncle Whathisname," yawned the almost-newlywed. "But as I told Jenny at dinner last night at the Waldorf-Astoria: I don't think this town or Donald Trump will change me one bit. In fact, I highly doubt if I will change." Immediately after the quote, Andy left to attend to "some business things" as his publicist quickly trademarked the quote at his insistence. When asked when the young power couple was planning on returning to Minnesota, the publicist laughed and said, "Never."

His rise within the senior management ranks of the Trump Corporation has been very impressive but many claim that Jenny is the power behind the throne. "Andy is more the pretty face behind Jenny's brains," said Faribault's top image consultant, Lorraine Miller "I have been working with Andy to further his career but everyone knows that Jenny is the real star here. He would do well to listen to her wise guidance more often."
