MAPLE LAWN CEMETARY IMPLODES INTO SPINNING VORTEX UPON TRUMP VICTORY

(Daily News) At the moment which Donald Trump was named the 45th President of the United States, the southeast corner of Maple Lawn Cemetery started emanating a loud sound which resulted in the entire corner of the cemetery exploding into a spinning vortex of cataclysmic proportion not seen since the great air condition vandalism incident of the late 1960's which family members rarely, if ever, discuss.

"I heard a spinning noise about 8ish," said Faribault resident Roger Bongers, "but I thought it was just the Wal-Mart starting up one of their generators or that monthly air raid sirens until I figured out it was not the first Wednesday of the month. But I will tell you one thing, it was a loud son of a bitch explosion."

Upon an inspection by demolition experts, it was determined that the grave of Jane Sears began spinning at 8 PM, right after the Midwest polls closed and by the time the election was called at 11:30 PM, the grave area was churning out a centrifugal force similar to "a nuclear hurricane brimming with piss and vinegar."

THE 2016 OBLIGATORY THANKSGIVING MEMORY FROM MNL READERSHIP

(Golden Corral) At the end of each year, we trot out this old chestnut: heartfelt stories from the allegedly good old past.

"It was the first few autumn batches of moonshine which I remember most vividly. We were running a few small family stills out of French Lake"

Lorrie Beyl

"I was arrested as a true freshman on a bogus, trumped-up forgery charge. The head jailer made sure I got a sliver of pie and my own fork. It is the little things."

Maggie Sears

"It was the time that as a nursing student, I successfully diagnosed my first trichinosis case at the family festivities. I do wonder what ever happened to dear old Mike Lohrmann."

Joan Horsman

"I rarely remember a lot of Thanksgiving details because I am usually still in the middle of celebrating Veteran's Day as I just can't say 'no' to a Navy man."

Karen Ayre

"I was touring with an 'Up With People' tour in the Far East. That is where I met my third or fourth or fifth or sixth wife and finally got real serious about my Origami hobby."
