"There is nothing wrong for two men to hang around in matching pants discussing the events of the day," said the still-lanky father of two. "I happen to like wear the latest fashions and, if some like-minded men agree with me, I would embrace it literally and figuratively." While Neil is considered one of the "fringe" candidates vying for this Congressional office, his campaign is based on "matching patterned trousers, fading British accents and a freakishly odd attraction to aspic."	Derek believes in the outside and playing with his pet fish, Kevin. Living in a fishhouse ten months out of the year has allowed Derek to work on his tan and dry-land surfing, and nighttime stalking "skills." An official loner, Derek also believes in lower standards for food safety, a more informal tax collection system and "pay as you go" approach to the purchases of personal hygiene products.	"Jimmy" is running for his grandfather's seat on the prestigious Profile Council. The council is charged with making Rice County "far cooler than Steele County." "I was born with a knockout profile (he then gracefully turns his head) and I have to thank my Grandpa Bing Miller for my killer looks and overall coolness." All political insiders agree he is "head and shoulders" above all his less beautiful competitors."	Alec knows his way around a fifty-gallon drum of pre-cooked goulash and wants to be the Union Steward for the Northfield Public Schools Food Service Workers Union. "School never had really interested me much so my Grandmother Cathy Lenz convinced me to quit 'the silly book learning' and start working in a school kitchen." With his nights free, Alec keeps busy with his pet turtles, Sue and Palm.

Recently made a citizen due to his green-card inspired marriage to former super fashion model Barb Pearson-Goodwin, he spends his spare time of cheating at golf and elegant interior design.

SARAH BARNETT, BLONDE DETECTIVE

So, are you saying Andy is the man for this job? Can he deliver the goods?

Well, we don't have a lot of choices. He is all we can get for now.

Too bad that Jimmy Batchelder is semi-retired. He's a pro!

Wendy Mortenson still talks about him...sigh...
